

Balloons and Parachutes board game

Here are some games for you to use with your students to make learning more fun!

This game is played like Chutes and Ladders®.

Players enter the board at square 1 and roll a die to proceed in the direction indicated by the arrows and numbers on the squares.

If they land on the start of a green arrow, they follow it up to the hot air balloon at the end of the arrow.

If they land on the start of a red arrow, they follow it down to the parachute at the end of the arrow.

First player to square 70 wins.

If the game is played during Reading Practice, players take turns after reading a word, phrase, or sentence.

If the game is played during Spelling Practice, players take turns after using Save Our Spelling (SOS) to spell a word.

Related verbal or written activities could include looking up pictures or information on hot air balloons and parachutes.

You could use the Describing Hierarchy with either hot air balloons or parachutes as your item to describe.

You could also select a picture of hot air balloons or parachutes as your prompt for a 10-step writing project.
